Improving our community by helping others with their finances.

A Little Bit of Help Can Go a Long Way

The purpose of a trained Money Management Volunteer is to help low income, vulnerable older people with the daunting task of keeping up with their finances. The clients are usually people lacking trustworthy family, are disabled in some way, or may be forgetful. By balancing checkbooks, keeping an eye on finances, and ensuring bills are being paid on time, volunteers are improving lives.

Types of Volunteers:

There are two different types or levels of service that volunteers provide.

1. Volunteer Representative Payees—manage the client's federal benefits (such as Social Security) to assure that monthly bills (rent, food, utilities) get paid. They also sign all checks and provide the client with a monthly cash stipend.
2. Volunteer Monitors—conduct a periodic review of all client accounts. They also check for federal and non-federal sources of income, large balances that could jeopardize client's benefits, and unusual transactions.
